The Patriot

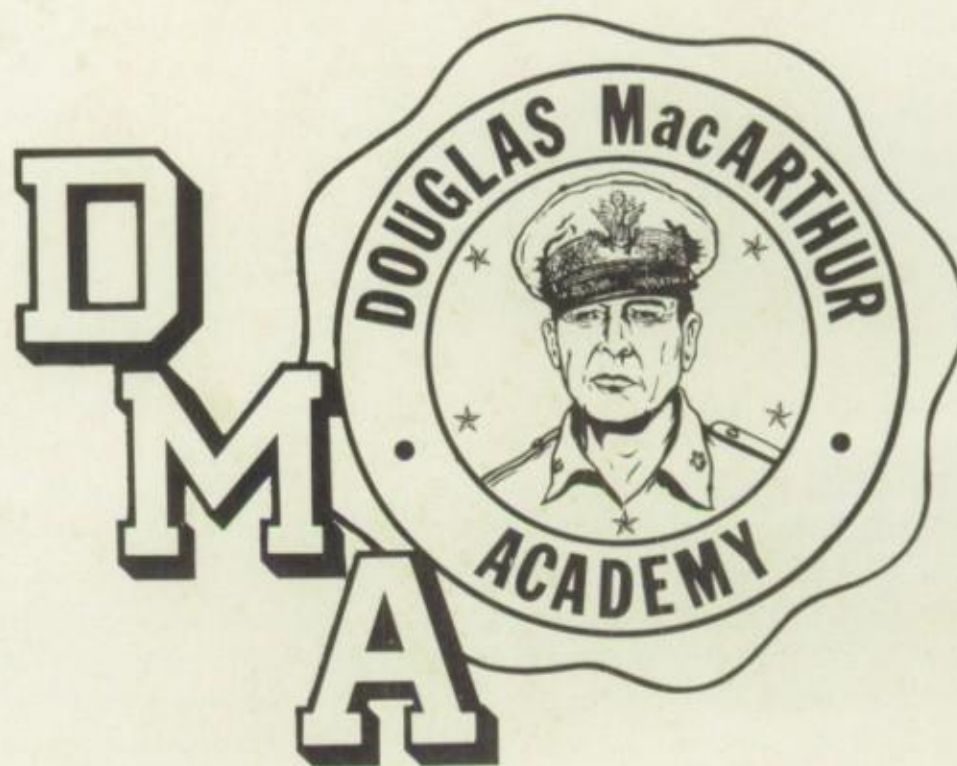

To The Class of 1967 . . .

That life is an enigma is incontestable. And to many, life's purpose, its goal, is equally perplexing. Just what is it in living that makes that which is closest to each of us — life itself — furthestest away? Man has been the eternal seeker of the might of truth. His torch he has passed from century to century only to find that it is one of fire — not of light. His progression is astounding indeed in view of the fewness of civilized man's centuries. Indeed, the 20th century per se has contributed more than all of the vast numbers of centuries that preceded it in the intensity and brilliance of this so called "torch of progress." And yet the fears of all of mankind that ever did exist still do; furthermore, they are now manifold and magnified. Is this, then, progress? Can man best pass the torch of material and scientific advancement while still caught fast in the throes of moral trepidity? To us, is God, then, dead? No man is arbitrarily required to believe in God's existence; every man is permitted to so believe. . . by God. Does acceptance of the late 20th century preclude an acceptance of Christ? Is ours "a creed outworn"? Is Christ-like living, is Christianity. . . passe? What might it be said that we are living for? Every man has his passion. Few men find the passion intended and reserved for them. You and I have no choice about living in the world; our choice is in whether to live of it. What is your passion for living, your passion in life? For most of us, it is specifically to take it one day at a time, in a step-by-step manner without a knowledge or seeming concern of what lies ahead. Yes, this is true of nearly all. We seek to educate, to train, to work, to retire (from what?), and to die. We seldom plan to live, to live, to live, to live, and TO LIVE! We crowd our lives with what we deem necessities for living with a blindness that clouds our very souls to what life really is. We live to ourselves, for ourselves, and then die by ourselves. Is it really worth it, this kind of living? Is it substantial? Is it worthwhile? If so, what is the ultimate proof of this substantialness? Of this worthiness? Where does it end? With what does it end? What can be expected from such an existence after the final step of death has been reached? Where or what then? What is there one step beyond. . . dying? If your passion for life is what has here been identified, your only expectancy after death is nothingness; can time and space, then, be more than this after the close of such a life? What less can there be than nothing? What less can there be than such a human existence? How many of us in the fullness of a lifetime subordinate our lives to our living and not our living to our lives. Do we knowingly sacrifice our lives on the altar of existence thinking them to be too transitory to make any conceivable difference? No life is transitory when it is lived in fullness within the framework of Christ. Such a life has as its purpose Christlikeness and as its goal, that first step beyond the grave. Such a life has as its incentive a love for all others. The beauty of Christian love is nonpareil. It is enveloped within the love of God and his Son for us. Where can there be known a greater bound of love? And within this boundary, where can there be found a greater purpose for your life? Your Lord will be found only in your love for all that he represents. When you become an agent of Christ, you are endowed with a spiritual love for the entity of Truth. You become the torchbearer for this Truth and shed the light of your torch through every aspect of your daily living to every area of darkness that you encounter. This is your purpose, your goal — God speed!

DEDICATION

Mr. Bailey

A machine without an operator would be like Douglas MacArthur Academy without the man whom we honor today. He quietly goes about his work each day, many times unnoticed; however, without him this institution could not operate with the degree of smoothness and efficiency that it does. He takes pride in everything he does, and we realize that our task would be much less enjoyable if our surroundings were not kept neat and clean by this wonderful man.

May God bless him for all he does, has done, and will surely continue to do. Indeed, he has dedicated himself to us, and it is for this dedication that we, the Senior Class, dedicate with heart felt sincerity, the 1967 Patriot to our custodian Mr. Gene Bailey.

May God bless and keep you always

Mr. Bailey

Our name sake, General

Douglas MacArthur graduated as the leading man in his class at West Point in 1903. In 1919 he served as the Superintendent. Later he interested others in the educational system of Japan. General MacArthur was not only a great military leader, but he was also a leader in the field of education.

ODE TO MacARTHUR

High hangs his sword on Valhalla's wall,
Unblemished hangs his shield,
He bore them well in Freedom's cause,
Nor did ever once his honor yield.

* * * * *

"Bravest of the brave is he", they said,
Not lightly did they voice such praise,
For there stood he firm beside his men
When cleared the battle's haze.

* * * * *

Six times answered he his Country's call,
Six times returned—victorious over all!
Mark well his words: "I shall return," said he—
And return he did to set them free.

* * * * *

Now sleeps he here in peace,—
Truly has he earned his rest.
—Well done, O faithful soldier,
Your Country knows you gave your best!

Prom '66

What if they all burst at once?

The '66 prom was far and away the biggest and best yet at "good ol' D.M.A." It is moments such as these that we long remember . . .and ever love.

— A casual moment —

Indeed, we had a full house.

They call me "Jimmy Bald-Eagle."

The dance floor stayed crowded.

Wayne swivels on the dance floor as well as the football field.

Senior Banquet

The 1966 Senior Banquet was held at the Monticello, and it was a very enjoyable evening for all. Among the many memorable events of the evening were the reading of the "Last Will and Testament" and the distribution of the annuals. A trophy case was presented to the school from the Senior Class.

Bill, is your prophecy really that funny?

Marlene dedicates the annual to Mr. DeFilippo and the Senior Class.

Graduation

The final line-up on the big day.

A word to the class of '66 from Mr. Bonney.

Mrs. Tynes makes D.A.R. presentation to Greg Walsh.

The guest speaker, Philip P. Brower.

Proud parents and friends watch the graduates.

Don't look now, Heavy, but I dropped my contact.

CONGRESSIONAL:

Wayne Baker ran for four touchdowns, and Sammy Lawrence passed, kicked, or ran for 28 points. The Generals had three td's called back but still went on to defeat Congressional by a score of 64-0. This was the Generals' largest winning margin ever. Following Baker and Lawrence's examples, our boys continued to score at a fast and furious rate: Bill Collins, 8 yd. end sweep; Ernie Downs, tackle plunge; Wayne White, pass from Lawrence; Ed Leach, tackle plunge; Larry Bailey, 40 yd. fumble recovery.

Greatness

Mother would have to starch these pants!

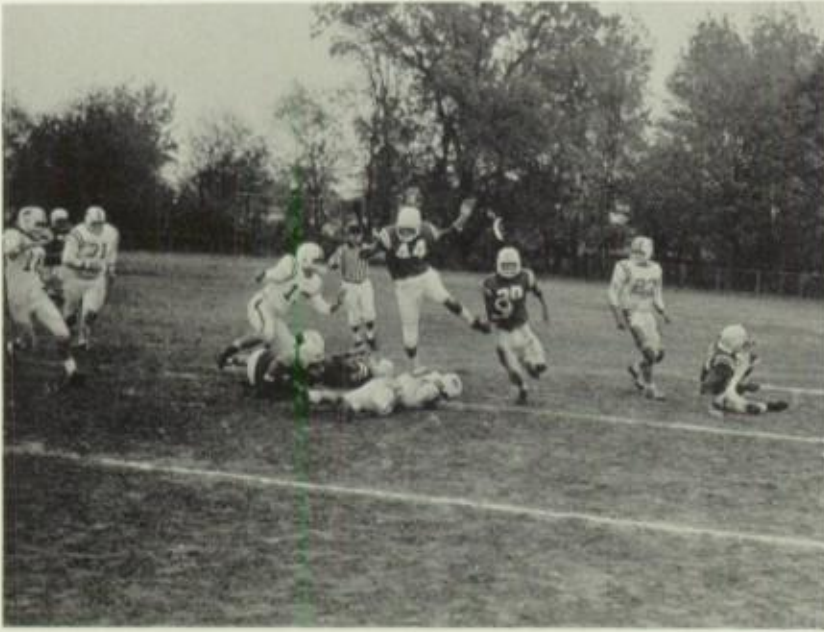

Who's that cat in the striped pajamas?

HUGUENOT:

The D.M.A. Generals defeated Huguenot 15-14 in the opening game of the season. Quarterback Sammy Lawrence scored the first touchdown after which tackle Wayne White and guard David Banks broke through the line giving our Generals a two-point safety. Wayne Baker galloped 60 yards for the tying td, and quarterback Samuel Lawrence ran over for the extra point that proved to be the necessary margin of victory.

HOMECOMING, A

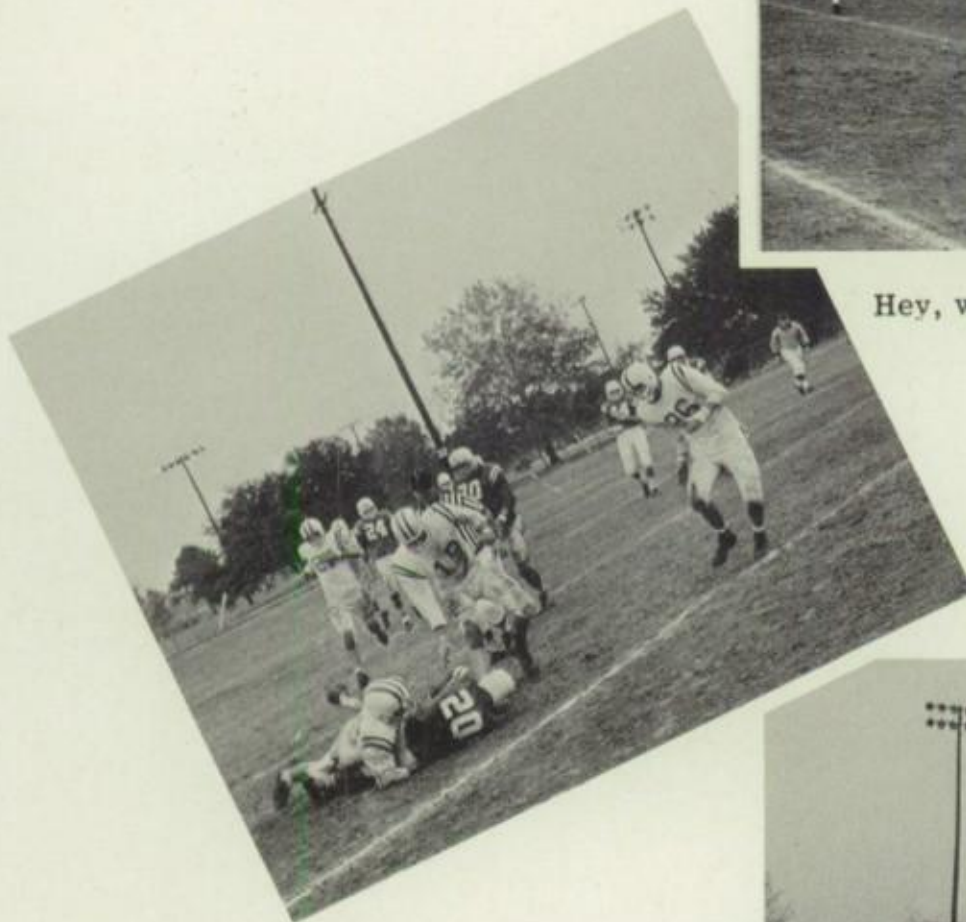

Jack be nimble, Jack be quick!

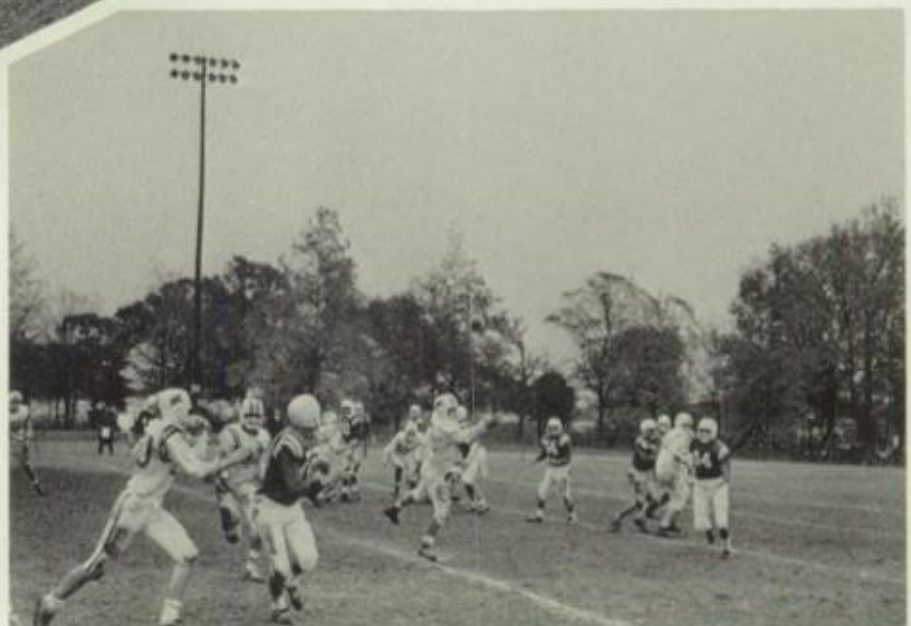

Going into the last game of the season, the Generals held an impressive 2-4 record. As the game ended, the Generals had defeated York Academy with a score of 20-12. Wayne Baker scored on two long passes from quarterback Sammy Lawrence, and Half-back Ernie Downs scored from four yards. The defense proved to be a great asset throughout the game. Linebackers Steve Pickard and Eddie Crumbly seemed to be too much for York.

Hey, where are you going; the goal post is that way?

York can't play ball, but they sure can dance.

It's a bird, it's a plane, NO! it's a SUPERBALL.

GLORIOUS VICTORY

TO THE CLASS OF '67

After the long years of planning and preparation, you have succeeded and reached your goal – graduation. By setting your goals high and striving for them, you have overcome every obstacle that you were faced with. Many times the task seemed too difficult to master and graduation seemed far in the future; but each time you received a renewed hope and trust.

In the years to come, this annual will hold precious memories for you, and the wish to relive your high school days will grow with the passing of time. However, the pages cannot be turned back, for they are all in the past. The door to your future stands waiting for you only to unlock it with the key of knowledge that you now possess. But your adventures and knowledge do not end here, for you are only on the threshold of a bright and exciting life with great opportunities for all who will avail themselves. You must set your goals high, and with your high school years as your first step, begin on your journey along the path of success, happiness, and fulfillment.

From those that you leave behind, our prayer is that this prayer will be your prayer . . .

Light for me a candle, Oh Lord, that I may see the way . . . and have a beacon to illuminate the holy footsteps of Thy Son . . . in which thou has commanded me to walk.

Grant unto me the light of love and guidance for I cannot follow in the path of darkness and alone.

By thy grace, thou has blessed me with the talents to build and shape my own candle . . . the size of which is determined by my own efforts.

But without thy divine flame, it is dead and inanimate. Light for me a candle, Oh Lord, and by its rays will I follow thee.

May God be your source of strength and consolation,

Lynn Smith
